The result of yesterday's democratic primary in McCracken county yielded few surprises to well informed politicians who had made a canvass of the county, but a number of candidates were evidently somewhat astonished.

The vote was what might be termed light, showing that the democrats did not all go to the polls. Some of the races were quite close, leaving a good excuse for some of the candidates, at least, to contest, but none has signified any intention of contesting.

The first returns came in as early as 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the last were not in until 11 p. m., and it took the last to decide one of two of the races.

It is believed that the tabulated returns are correct, although some of the candidates may be satisfied and convinced with nothing short of the official count.

Most all the defeated candidates take their medicine gracefully, but some seem to be a little sore over alleged "combinations" that they seem to think defeated them.

It is quite likely that the republicans of McCracken county will put out a complete ticket for the November election. The republican county committee will be called together shortly for the purpose of deciding on the time and manner for selecting candidates for the county offices. It is likely that the ticket will not be put out until midsummer, probably later.

It is understood that Messrs. John B. Smith, who was defeated by Mr.
Joe Miller for jailer by 3 votes, and County Clerk Charles Graham, who was defeated by about 30 votes by John W. Ogilvie, are waiting to ascertain if reported returns are correct, and if they are will abide by them without contest.

Attorney James Eden, who was defeated by Mr. L. P. Head by 67 votes, stated that he certainly would not contest.

It is likely that even if any friends of the candidates later induce them to contest, nothing will be done until after the official count.

Those interested in the races for magistrate and constable found today that there is a very unusual state of affairs. The vote for these nominations was not copied by the election officers, and as a result there is no way to ascertain who won until the committee meets in a few days to count the vote.

Judge Charles Emery won for magistrate in the third district, and Dr. P. H. Stewart received 11 votes for constable, and there being no ran-didate on the ballot will be declared the nominee. The vote is known here because Judge Emery got it himself last night.

The vote in the other districts,
however, is not known. The ballot boxes are at Lang's drug store, and no one has authority to unlock them and examine the books to ascertain the vote as notified to in the back by the election officers. As no one retained the figures and no one can open the ballot boxes, no one can ascertain the result of the races for magistrate and constable until the official count Monday next.

E. B. When, having no opponent, won easily the county surveyor nomination.

In the race for county school superintendent S. J. Hillington won by a good vote, receiving in the county 557 votes with J. W. Smart second, with 592.

CORONER CROW CALLED
TO HOLD AN INQUEST.

Myrtle Osbey, colored, died in "Tin Can Alley" yesterday morning from consumption, and having had no doctor, Coroner James F. Crow was today called to hold an inquest. The inquiry developed the fact that she died of consumption. Coroner Crow says she must have been the tallest woman in Paducah for her age. She was about six feet in height and her friends claim she was only 16 years old.

BECOME A CITIZEN.

Campanari, the Well Known Grand Opera Singer, Makes Application.

New York, March 31.—Giuseppe Campanari, the grand opera singer, today took the first step toward becoming a citizen of the United States.
Although the singer has spent much of his time in this country during the last sixteen years he had never taken out first papers, being under the impression, he told the court today, that "the fact of five years' practically continuous residence would not make this disappointment when informed that this was not the case and that he would be obliged, after taking out first papers, to wait two years before citizenship papers could be issued to him. Mr. Campanari said that he desired to educate and rear his children as Americans.

FAITHFUL TO BUTLER.

Missouri Supreme Court Rules in His Favor.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 31.—
The supreme court on banc issued an absolute rule of prohibition against Judge Foster of St. Louis, prohibiting him from trying Edward Butler of St. Louis on an indictment charging Butler with helping Charles
P. Kelley, former speaker of the St.
Louis house of delegates, to leave the state and not testify against him in a bribery indictment trial.

The case is ordered transferred from the criminal court of St. Louis to the court of criminal correction.

Great Indian Chief Dead.

Montgomery, Ala., March 31.— Thomas H. Watts, Great Indian chief of the Red Men of the United States died at his home here of a rheumatic affection, aged 50. He was the son of Thos. H. Watts, Sr., who was government of Alabama at the commencement of the Civil war, who resigned to accept the portfolio of attorney general in the Confederate cabinet.

Removal of County Seat Question Causes Bloodshed in Ballard County

As the result of a quarrel and a saloon fight over the question of moving the county seat from Wick-liffe to La Center, a shooting that will probably result in the death of Deputy Marshal H. Barnett, at Wick-liffe occurred yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

The question of moving the court house has caused a bitter feeling between the residents of Ballard county and trouble has been brewing for some time. Several special deputies were sworn in yesterday, as the town was filled with farmers and residents of nearby towns.

Several fights were reported but nothing of a serious nature happened until afternoon, when a number of East Calverts and Wickliffe men became engaged in a quarrel in J. J.
Rollins & Son's saloon on Court street. The East Calverts were taking the part of La Center.

The quarrel grew into a fight and Special Deputy Riley H. Blankenship arrested Jerry Webb, a farmer living near East Calvo and was starting to the jail with him when his friends surrounded the deputy, took Webb away and returned with him to the saloon.

Deputy Barnett, hearing of the unsuccessful attempt to arrest Webb, went into the saloon and took him in charge. His friends again objected and the Wickliffe men said that they would stand by their marshal. Several men pulled their revolvers and the fight was resumed.

No one could tell who fired the first shot, but several followed in quick succession. When the smoke cleared away, Marshal Barnett was found on the floor mortally wounded.
A shot from a 38-caliber revolver had passed through his body and lodged in his back near the spine.

Other deputies placed George Miller of East Calvo, under arrest. He is suspected as having fired the shot but the authorities are not certain.

Last night the doctors reported that Barnett had a very slim chance for recovery.

The Democratic primaries are on today and the feeling over the proposed removal of the court house is expected to lead to more trouble. The shooting caused the greatest excitement in Wickliffe and a more bitter feeling against the La Center factions. Some talk of violence was heard but no steps in this direction were taken because of the uncertainty of the guilt of Miller.

10-CENT NOVELS CAUSED DOWNFALL

Chicago Boy Sentenced for Life
Because of Them.

Murdered a Woman and His Own Father Turned Him Over to the Police.

HE READ CHEAP LITERATURE.

Chicago, March 31.—Dime novels paved James A. Logan, Jr.'s, way to the penitentiary, according to the boy's confession to Judge Barnes, who sentenced him to the Joliet prison for life for the murder of Mrs.
Uella Tracey in Hyde Park, Feb. 26.
The Roman courage of the boy's father in surrendering his son to the police association as he learned he had committed a crime for which he might hang, was commended by Judge Barnes. The 17-year-old lad received a good education. His father and step-mother are religious, and sent the boy regularly to church and Sunday school.

Claudestinely, young Logan pored
over the tales of sensational crimes in yellow back literature. When his shoes were out, and he was out of work, he decided to put dime novel methods into operation and secure the money for new foot-gear as a highwayman. He stole a revolver from the owner of his father's flat and fared forth upon the night expedition which resulted in Mrs. Tracey's death.

The deed of blood weighed upon his conscience and next morning he confessed to his father, who without hesitation turned him over to justice.

"I am guilty," Logan, said, as he stood beside his aged father and stepmother before Judge Barnes today.

"You had a pretty good education, didn't you, James?" asked Judge Barnes.
"Yes, sir," replied the lad. "I went to school from the time I was eight until I was sixteen years old."

"You were given religious instruction?"

"My father used to have me go to church and Sunday school every Sunday."

"Was your home a pleasant one?"

"Yes, sir."

"Were your father and step-mother
good to you?"

"As good as they could be."

"What principally influenced you to start on a life of crime?"

"Dime novels."

"Did you read many?"

"Yes, sir. I spent all my spare change for these books and read them all the time. My friends advised me to stop reading them, but I could not heed their advice."

"These cannot be too much in commendation of these parents," said Judge Barnes. "Although the son has disgraced them and broken their hearts, they are determined that justice should be done and this at great sacrifice to them. These very young criminals are the most dangerous to society. They are responsible for a majority of the cold-blooded murders which have been committed in Chien-go the last few months."

BROKEN SHOULDER

RESULTS FROM FALL FROM SEC-OND STORY WINDOW.

Narrow Escape of Jim Bennett, Colored, at G. R. Davis' Tin Shop Today.

Jim Bennett, colored, aged 18, while washing windows in the carnival headquarters over G. R. Davis' tin shop on South Third street, near Kentucky avenue, about 2 o'clock this afternoon, slipped out onto a piece of cornice to wash the outside of the windows. He supposed it was solid, but it was nothing but tin, and gave way.

He fell to the pavement below, a distance of fifteen or twenty feet, and struck on his left shoulder.

Dr. J. D. Robertson was soon on the scene and found that Bennett had sustained serious injury, but sustaining a fractured shoulder. He dressed the injury and sent Bennett to his home, 1319 Clay street. Bennett has been working for Mr. Davis for several months past.

NOW IN JAIL.

Alleged Murderer Gives Himself Up
to a Neighbor.

Covington, Ky., March 31.—Jas.
Russell, who murdered his wife near Latonia Wednesday, gave himself up this morning to Hank Armstrong, a farmer near Independence, and was brought to the Covington jail.

A Good Performance.

The Bryan-Miller company last night presented "Gilt, the Newsboy," at the Kentucky theatre. The company is one of the best people and the play was most satisfactory in every respect. The company plays here this afternoon and closes tonight. Tomorrow comes Tim Murphy.

DIFFICULT PIECE OF WELDING PERFORMED AT THE I. C. SHOP

Mr. Jerome Smith, of the local I.
C. blacksmith shop, performed another feat of welding at the shops yesterday.

During the past several months
the local blacksmiths have been welding engine frames without taking the boiler off—a very difficult and delicate piece of work, and never before had a double break been attempted here. On one of the big passenger engines which had to be gotten out immediately, Mr. Smith went to work yesterday to do a piece of double welding and succeeded.
The local shops have of late done the best work of any shops on the system in this class of work, especially,
and the officials are highly gratified
at the achievement.

A REQUISITION ISSUED

FOR J. MORGAN SMITH

Albany, March 31.—Governor Higgins today issued a requisition for J.
Morgan Smith and wife, brother-in-law and sister of Nan Patterson, wanted here for a criminal conspiracy in connection with the murder of Caesar Young.

TO WIPE OUT TRUSTS.

Texas Legislature Appropriates $15-000 for Octopus Hunt.

Austin, Tex., March 31.—The Texas legislature is going to send the attorney general out on a general octopus hunt. To that end bills were passed today for introduction in both branches of the legislature at the same time, appropriating $15-000 for use by the attorney general for an immediate investigation of the situation in Texas with a view of effecting the various trusts that are being reported by legislators to be lambasting and injuring the business interests of the state.

The most prominent trusts to be investigated along this line are the beef and oil trusts, but the dragnet order has been given and legislators ought say they do not know where the end will be or who will be caught.

NORTH ATLANTIC FOR "FIGHTING BOB"

Rear Admiral Rob Evans Took Charge Today.

Hurghers in Indiana Blew Safe—Menlight's Peeking Fatal in Boston, Mass.

Washington, March 31.—Rear Admiral Robey D. Evans ("Fighting Bob") assumed control of the North Atlantic fleet at Pensacola this morning. The ceremony was simple, consisting merely of the lowering of Rear Admiral Harker's flag on the Keensarge and the raising of Evans' flag on the Maine, which is the flagship, and the customary salutes from all the vessels present.

More Safe Blowers.

Cynthiana, Ind., March 31.—Hur-ghars this morning blew the safe in Marshall and Yeager's store, securing some money. The explosion awoke Wm. Fox, but the burglars fired three shots at him and drove him back to the house and escaped.

Deaths From Meningitis.

Horton, March 31.—Several deaths have resulted here from spinal meningitis. Yesterday a daughter of Senator Proctor, of Vermont, fell a victim.

Will Acquit or Convict.

New York, March 31.—The fate of Nan Patterson, who will be tried
April 10 for the murder of Caesar
Young, hinges on the arrest of J.
Morgan Smith and wife in Chien-go. Their presence at the trial of the young actress will either result in her conviction or acquittal.

Wrecked Railroad Safe.

Muncie, Ind., March 31.—Hurghars
last night blew the safe in the Cincinnati, Chicago and Louisville railway depot and completely wrecked it and secured the contents.

SAWMILL BOILER KILLS THREE MEN

Water Was Allowed to Get Low and It Blew Up.

Young Women at Chattanooga Deceived By An Alleged Theatrical Agent.

THE TOWBOAT LINEHAN BURNS

Huntingdon, W. Va., March 31.—
Three men were killed and one fatally injured in an explosion of the boiler of a portable sawmill near Matewan.
The dead are:
JOHN SANDMAN, aged 26.
GREEN SANDMAN, aged 19.
ENDINER HENDERSON.
Fatally injured:
John Cooper, the sawyer.
A dry boiler is supposed to have caused the explosion.

Wanted, a Manager.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 31.— Eight young women, four girls and four boys, all with an ambition to acquire fame and fortune before the footlights, are seeking to learn the whereabouts of one Hodge Wall, a young stranger who organized them into a stock company a few days ago.
Wall is charged, let his stock company give two performances of "Ten Nights in a Barroom" in Chattanooga suburbs and then disappeared with the receipts. All of the victims gave up positions to go on the stage, and are now left without money or work. Three warrants are out for the erstwhile manager.

Elevator and Boat Burn.

Nashville Tenn., March 31.—Fire at the plant of the Ryman Elevator Co., on the east bank of the Cumbe-land river last night resulted in damage estimated at $25,000, partly insured. The four-story frame receiving building, a large quantity of hay and the towboat Linehan were destroyed. The Linehan belonged to the Cumberland River Transportation
Co., and was valued at $15,000.

Took Overdose of Morphine.

Augusta, Ga., March 31.—Miss Agnes Watson, daughter of Thomas Watson, is in a desperate condition as the result of an accidental overdose of morphine taken at the home of a friend in Athens, Ga., where she is visiting in the absence of her father.
Suffering intense pain from the extraction of a tooth, she took three doses of the drug and soon was in a state of coma. Physicians who attended her say the dose was three times too great for safety. Miss Watson has regained consciousness, but her chance for recovery is poor.

MUST KEEP MUM

MRS. BROCKWELL'S ATTORNEY ADVISES TALKING LESS.

She Estimates That Three Thousand People Have Called at the Jail to See Her.

Mrs. Mary Brockwell this afternoon stated that her attorney instructed her to say nothing further to any reporters about what defense she would make, but she would say this much—that she would stick to her original confession. Mrs. Brock-well further stated that she intended going to the funeral of her little ones Sunday as she wanted to see them laid away.

Everyone who visits her has to pay 5 cents and she has collected a great deal today. She estimates that three thousand people have been up to see her since she was placed in jail.

FIVE CENTS

Charged to See Murderer, and She Gets the Money.

Recognition of the great annoyance to the prisoner, Jailer Jones began this morning charging five cents for each visitor to the county jail to see Mrs.
Mary Brockwell, the mother who poisoned her three children.

Visitors flocking to the jail have completely upset the prisoner and made her very nervous and Jailer Jones thought if he charged, this might in a measure tend to decrease the crowds. The money collected is all turned over to the prisoner for her own use.

Little Rock Beat Pittsburg.

The Little Rock Southern league team yesterday defeated the Pittsburg Nationals in the fifth of 16
3. Among the pitchers was Hollis Kitty product, and apparently he was invincible. Goodwin, who helped Paducah win the pennant last season,
did part of the twirling for Pittsburg, and the score indicates that he was pounded freely. Pittsburg plays here next month.

Sec. Hay Sails for Naples.

Algiers, March 31.—Secretary of State Hay sailed for Naples at noon.
His condition is improving steadily.

MANY WINGED ANTS INVADE LAWYERS' OFFICE

Attorneys Bradshaw & Bradshaw yesterday had a strenuous time in their office on legal row. In the afternoon when the office was opened thousands of winged insects were found flying about the room. They proved to be winged ants and the rooms were full of them. They settled on the floor and window sills and completely overran the house.
They had long wings and seemed unable to fly any great distance, alighting every few feet to recover strength.
They came up from the floor, hatched out by the steam heat, it is said, but after the office had been opened a little while began to vanish and holtered the attorneys very little.

DESPOILER OF HOME IS KILLED BY HUSBAND.

Collinsville, Ill., March 31.—In a battle in a saloon last night in which John Herta and wife were arrayed against Barney Versalo, Mrs. Herta and Versalo were killed, and Herta was wounded. Herta was acquitted by the coroner's inquest this morning.
Versalo eloped with Mrs. Herta six months ago, but she returned and was forgiven. Versalo started the fight.

REMAINS OF MISS LEE.

Funeral Services Conducted in Episcopal Church at Lexington, Va.

Lexington, Ky., March 31.—The remains of Miss Mildred Lee, youngest daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, reached Lexington on a special train last night. A delegation of Confederate organizations, the faculty and students of the Washington and Lee University and the faculty of the Virginia Military Institute met the train and escorted the body to R. E. Lee Memorial Episcopal church, where funeral services will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. R. J. McLeod, tomorrow morning. The body will be placed in a crypt in the Lee Memorial at Washington and Lee University, where rest the remains of Gen.
Lee, his wife and daughter.

Adj. Gen. William E. Mickle, of the United Confederate Veterans of New Orleans accompanied the body from that city. Col. Robert E. Lee, of Fairfax county, Virginia, nephew of Miss Lee, met the body at Atlanta.
The floral offerings accompanying the body were profuse.

Surviving Miss Lee are two healthies, G. W. Curtis Lee, of Fairfax county, Virginia; Capt. Robert E. Lee, of New Kent county, Virginia, and one sister, Miss Mary Curtis Lee, now in France.

Rossman May Be Insane.

New York, March 31.—Gessie Rossman, the convicted dynamite may be subjected to an investigation as to his sanity. When Rossman was found guilty of sending an infernal machine to the Cunard steamer Umbra after a trial several days ago and confessed that it was he who attempted to blow up the statue of Frederick the Great at Washington, it was announced that sentence would be pronounced tomorrow. It was said today, however, that Rossman was sane. The case was tried, is not satisfied to pass sentence without first learning more about the dynamite, and has decided to defer the sentence pending an investigation into the prisoner's antecedents, the history of his life and his character and state of mind and health.

Weekly Tobacco Report.

The report of tobacco sales for the week, as prepared by Inspector Ed.
Miller, is as follows:

Receipts for the week, 172 hogsheads; receipts for year, 847 hogsheads; offerings for week, 63 hogsheads; offerings for year, 219 hogsheads; rejections for week, 27 hogsheads; sales for week, 36 hogsheads;
sales for year, 369 hogsheads.

Not Responsible.

Mrs. Brockwell, the Paducah murderess, who poisoned her three children, is said to be rather an intelligent woman, but is possessed of enough intelligence to know right from wrong. Her act, however, shows either insanity or a depth of moral depravity amounting to the same thing.—Fulton Commercial.

How "Spotty" Wing Escaped From The Eddyville Penitentiary Tuesday

A gentleman from Eddyville who was in the city yesterday told the facts in regard to "Spotty" Wing's escape from the Eddyville penitentiary. The prisoner was given sixteen years at Smithland for safe blowing, and after he had been in the hospital a year or two, began to get "paralyzed." He simulated disability to perfection, and was taken to the hospital. He appeared to get worse, and was barely able to creep around on crutches, and had to be constantly assisted, the guards carrying him to and from his cell on their backs.

Occasionally he would be in the prison yard when a shower came up, and would remain apparently helpless in the rain until some of the guards came out to help him. He would then hang up to them as if he could hardly move, and had everybody fooled, from the warden to the doctors and guards.

The night the prisoner made his escape he left a dummy in the bed, with the blankets at the side of the bed, and fled his way out of the hospital.

What to Do for Heart Trouble

I back up my advice with this remarkable fact—A Full Doctor's Worth of my blood-purifying medicine is in every bottle of Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

I ask no reference, no deposit, no security. There is nothing in prospect, nothing to pay—either now or later. To any heart sufferer who has not tried my remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—I will gladly give, free, not a mere sample, but a full dollar bottle. I am warranted in making this unusual offer because there is no ordinary remedy. It does not vainly try to stimulate the heart. Such treatments are worse than useless. It goes straight to the cause of all heart trouble—the heart nerves—and strengthens them and vitalizes them and restores them. Then that is the end of heart disease. For the heart itself has no more self-control than a common mouse. It is made to beat by a tender nerve so tiny that it is scarcely visible to the naked eye. Yet ten thousand times a day this delicate nerve must cause the heart to expand and contract.

The heart is about the size of your clenched fist. Open and close your fist a dozen times, even and you will see the monstrous labor this little nerve must do.

The heart nerve is only one of the branches of the great sympathetic nervous system. Each branch of this system is so closely allied with the others that weakness or irregularity at any point is apt to spread. Heart trouble frequently arises from stomach trouble through sympathy, and kidney trouble may also follow. For each of these organs is operated by a branch of these same sympathetic nerves—the inside nerves.

The bond of sympathy between the nerves that operate the vital organs has a useful purpose, as well. For what will cure weakness in any branch will surely cure weakness in every branch—what will restore one center will surely restore them all.

There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remained for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—what he put in practice. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the result of a quarter of a century of endeavor along this line. It does not dose the organ or deplete the pain—but it does go at once to the nerve—the inside nerve—the power nerve—and builds it up, and strengthens it and makes it well.

If you have heart trouble and have never tried my remedy, merely write and ask. I will send you an order on your druggist which will accept as gladly as he would accept a dollar. He will hand you from my prescription, and will send the bill to me. This offer is made only to strangers to my remedy. Those who have once used the Restorative do not need this evidence. There are no conditions—no requirements. It is open and frank and fair. It is the supreme test of my lifeless belief. All that I ask you to do is to write—write today.

For a free order for a dollar bottle you must address Dr. Shoop, Box 371, Racine, Wis. State which book you want.

Book 2 on the Heart.

FIVE YEARS YET

Before the Sea Level Question Need Be Settled.

Washington, Mar. 31.—There is authority for the statement that the question as to whether the isthmian canal shall be made a sea level waterway or constructed on the block system is one that need not be determined at the outset of the work. In fact, it is stated that work could progress for five years or more before this matter would necessarily be decided and without in any way retarding the progress of construction or causing any delay.

The explanation is made in this connection that the same work would be required for the early stage of a sea level canal that would be necessary in the construction of a 60-foot cut, or, in other words, that the same excavation work would be required for one as for the other. Thus ample time would be given for a most exhaustive consideration of the subject and for a thorough study of all the engineering problems involved before determining upon the character of the waterway.

While it is not necessarily a legislative question, yet a decision to adopt the sea level plan would mean that a much larger sum would be required for the construction of the canal than Congress has authorized for the completion of the project, and congress would be called upon for a further authorization, thus indirectly bringing the question of a sea level canal before the legislative branch of the government.

The executive and the commission have under consideration a strong recommendation in favor of a sea level canal.

Prof. J. A. Jaggas of Harvard, will lead a geological expedition to Iceland leaving the United States about May 25.

PADUCAH CLUB WAS DEFEATED AGAIN BY TOLEDO, O.

Prakes Was Wild and Two Errors Were Costly to the Indians. Who Were Outstripped.

Toledo won from Paducah yesterday afternoon in the second exhibition game of the season played at Wallace park by a score of 3 to 0. The wildness of Prakes, the Clarksville recruit to the Lloyd reservation of Red Skins, and two errors made at critical times, gave the training pupils their score.

The Indians showed up much better than they did last Sunday and the fans saw several exceptionally fast men in the bunch. Among the fast ones are McClain, left field; Taylor, center field; Gilligan, third base, and Vahrenhorst, a pitcher, who has been playing all around the diamond.

Laubhan shows up well behind the bat and is a good coach for the pitchers. He seems to be on in the hitter's weakness and works some pretty combinations of the strikers. Land caught his usual good game.

Prakes yesterday showed up well, yielding only two hits, one a double. Prakes was wild, which accounted for two runs not earned credited to the association pupils.

Lloyd is watching his men carefully and has not reached a point yet where he can definitely decide just what he will do.

Potts played his usual good game at second, and Perry showed some speed on his feet at short.

The principal thing Lloyd is working on is the hitting of the team. While it is true the Indians should not be expected to play the article of ball put up by the association team, they should be more proficient with the stick, and Lloyd is after "stickers" who can "stick."

Score by innings:
Indians, 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—4
Paducah, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Earned runs, Toledo, 1; two-base hits, Clingman; double plays, Prakes to Potts in Vahrenhorst; Left on bases, Paducah, 3; Toledo, 6; hit by pitched ball, Kemmer and Morarity by Prakes; struck out by Cannaltz, 8; Martin, 1; bases on balls, Cannaltz, 2; Prakes, 3; Prakes, 1. Time of game, 1:30. Umpire, Gilligan.

Lon Rutledge's signed contract was received by the local management last night and now all doubts and surmises as to who will manage and captain the Hopkinsville team are settled. No better man could have been secured than "Hul" and the fans expect to see something doing this season as a result of his work.

He is now in training at Evansville. Rutledge is the man who developed Brockett and Holveross and led the Cairo team to victory.—Hopkinsville News Era.

The papers in the K. I. T. league yesterday received copies of the official schedule for the league, which copies stipulated that they were sent strictly in confidence, not to be released until Saturday. So far as known, the Paducah News-Democrat is the only paper in the league to betray the confidence reposed in it. The N.-D. may claim that it did not see the written instructions of Secretary Gremmy that the schedule was to be held in confidence until Saturday, but it is strange that it missed something that every other member in the league saw plainly, and respected. It would appear that either the paper willingly and knowingly violated a sacred trust, or else it is badly deficient in seeing things that are as plain as day to others.

The schedule of the K. I. T. league for this season shows changes it is claimed were not authorized by the league. President Brown says it was agreed to have the games in the following order:

SPEND YOUR MONEY AT HOME

Paducah people. One hundred thousand dollars' worth of money is being spent here. It is the most substantial work to be done. There is no question of the fact that every man in Paducah is thoroughly imbued with the wish, and the inclination to do something to advance the material prosperity of the city and the community.

How this can be done, and best done, is a topic that would exhaust much time and space in a newspaper, and therefore The Sun will handle it on the installment plan.

The club has asked for ideas and suggestions from every source, and no doubt it will get them, as advice is cheap. Today, however, The Sun wishes to touch on a subject that is the advancement and "boom" of a town is given any consideration. It is the patronizing of home merchants and home institutions. We know some people will say, "Oh, well we can't get what we want in Paducah. The assortments are not what we get elsewhere, the styles not as advanced," etc.

And why are they not? Simply because the local merchants are afraid to bring on the assortment they would if their enterprise met with the proper encouragement and appreciation. If your stores don't have what you want ask for it. Ask for it in no uncertain tones, and the merchants will be only too glad to bring it on. There is not a merchant in town who will not tell you this.

For a few examples of the money that goes out of town, but should remain here: The young men of the city send out at least $5,000 a year to Louisville tailors that should be spent in Paducah. There are just as good tailors here as you find in Louisville.

Every spring and autumn the L. C. runs an excursion to St. Louis that carries at the least calculation $10,000 a year, mostly for what women wear.

And so on down the list, we could enumerate thousands of dollars sent out of Paducah that should be spent here. But for an excellent illustration, take the money foreign breweries take out of Paducah. While The Sun does not in any measure desire to encourage the use of intoxicating beverages, the beer trade of the city is a good illustration of the point we desire to make. From statistics just made it is shown that the saloons of Paducah send out of the city over $100,000 a year. Paducah has a brewery. It makes an excellent article of beer, we are told. Then why should such trade be given to outsiders when the money could be spent at home? Every dollar sent to St. Louis Louisville Evansville and other cities for such trade goes to stay, but the same money spent in Paducah would stay in the city, be spent and paid out in the regular channels of business and in wages to Paducah people. One hundred thousand dollars a year to neighboring cities for beer is $500,000 in five years and $1,000,000 in ten years. Think of it! Is there any reason for it?

Now, The Sun is not "boasting" or "knocking" any one's proposition, to use the language of the day, but merely cites this one trade because the volume is larger than any of the others. What holds true with it, however, is true to some degree in the dry goods, millinery, shoes, clothing, jewelry, quackware and all lines of retail trade.

Let's all resolve therefore to patronize Paducah merchants as one of the first steps to boom Paducah and make it a city of 50,000. Let's encourage them to bring on those things we want, and they don't handle. In this way we start an endless chain of prosperity for everyone by keeping our money at home where it should be.

A GOOD TICKET.

The Democratic primary yesterday was quiet, but close. The result is evidently satisfactory to the Democrats, and the county ticket they have put out is a good one. The contest yesterday was of course only a preliminary skirmish to the big battle in November, when the Republicans expect to have men in the field for the various offices. The Sun can only say in regard to yesterday's nominations by the Democrats, however, that if the Republicans lose in November, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are beaten by a nice set of Democrats, taking the ticket as a whole.

IN THE COURTS

The Benton Court.
Judge William Reed and Attorney J. C. Flournoy and W. A. Berry went to Benton this morning to finish up Marshall circuit court.

There remains several motions to hear and court will be wound up tomorrow and finally adjourned. This has been one of the most interesting terms of Marshall circuit court in years, because of the Holland murder case, but outside of this it amounted to comparatively little. Judge Reed will Monday convene the regular April term of circuit court here and all is in readiness. There are many cases in jail to be acted on by the grand jury, and with Judge Reed's characteristic methods he will probably clear the jail out again if the grand jury is as prompt with its work as the court.

Police Court.
E. L. Thomas, the leatherworker arrested here by Detective Will Baker yesterday morning, was this morning arraigned in police court on the charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Judge Sanders held him over and placed him in the hands of Officer Dowd, of Nashville, who is here to take Thomas back. The prisoner agreed to return without a requisition and was taken away from the city this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He says he is innocent of the charge, that of grand larceny and house breaking, and will prove himself so.

Other cases in court today were Harry Eden and Joe Lay, white, breach of the peace, $5 and costs for Eden and dismissed as to Lay; Ed. Rhodcap, white, breach of peace, $20 and costs; Harry Grafton, white, drunk, $1 and costs; M. Johns, drunk $1 and costs; John G. Robertson, white, drunk $1 and costs; John Irnng, obtaining property by false pretense, continued.

County Court.
M. Kimbro, aged 40, and Emma Long, aged 30, both of Brookport, colored, have been licensed to wed. It will make the second marriage of both.

G. H. Story, aged 21, and Ludia Twoky, aged 21, both of Marshall county, have been licensed to wed. It will make the first marriage of the groom and second of the bride.

Chalonsburg Suit.
Isaac Hoax has filed a suit against the city of Paducah for $10,000 damages for working him on the streets in payment of a fine assessed in police court.

Suit for Divorce.
Dulia Adams has filed a suit against her husband Lee Elbert Adams asking for a divorce on the grounds that he has been sent to the penitentiary for obtaining money by false pretenses.

A GOOD DEAL OF NONSENSE

About "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics."

Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can be renewed in but one way, and that is, from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine in itself can purify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the fol-de-rol that dyspepsia or indigestion is a germ disease, or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathartics.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and, unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied, it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "tonics," "pills" and "cathartics" which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 2,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper temperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used as Stuart's Tablets, because it is not only the sick and ailing, but well people who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well, prevention is better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, do both; they prevent indigestion and they remove it where it exists. The regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument.

NEGRO MISSIONARY TURNS BACK TO HEATHENISM.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—A dispatch from Huntington, Ind., says:

The executive committee of the missionary board of the United Brethren in Christ has dropped from the rolls of the church Daniel Flickinger Wilberforce, a native African who was brought to this country as a child, and after being educated was returned by the board to his old tribe as a missionary. It is charged by the board that after a service of twenty-five years as missionary, the negro mulatto had been lured back to heathenism, has become chief of his old tribe of devil worshippers and has contracted plural marriages in the wilds of Africa.

Nearly fifty years ago, while Dr. Daniel Krumler Flickinger, then secretary of the missionary board of the church was in West Africa work, a male child was born in a village. The host of Dr. Flickinger christened the baby Daniel Flickinger Wilberforce. Twelve years later the boy was brought to America by a missionary, and Dr. Flickinger accidentally discovered him at the missionary house in New York. He took the lad to Dayton, O., and he was sent to school and later to a medical college at Cleveland. He married a negress at Dayton and the two went to Africa to do missionary work, his children, two sons and two daughters, attended Central College here. The sons are still in this country, one at Oberlin College and the other in the Dayton High School.

The venerable Dr. Flickinger is much depressed over the backsliding of his protégé.

The tennis committee of the Y. M. C. A. has been appointed and held its first meeting last night. It is composed of Messrs. W. D. Deakins, H. L. Matthis, Harry Linn, Murray Cabell, J. H. Grogan and Dr. Vernon Blythe. Some rules governing the courts were formulated as follows:

All members of the Y. M. C. A. will have the privilege of playing on the courts, free.
No men except members will be allowed to play.
Members of the woman's committee will be given complimentary tickets. Other ladies will be charged $3.
The courts are now ready for use and will be played upon tomorrow morning. It is probable, though, there will be a formal opening of the courts next week, in the nature of a social affair, as in previous years.
The Sunday afternoon service at the Y. M. C. A. will be held at 3:30 o'clock, and the address will be made by Rev. H. W. Bass of the Tenth Street Christian church, who will speak on "The Y. M. C. A." There will be good music.

Holsted Into Engine.
Engineer Joe Pierce, of the "highball" runs between Paducah and Louisville, met his Waterloo several days ago with an engine cab. Engineer Pierce is quite a fat man and was sent out extra on the noon train, to Louisville. Ordinarily he takes the night runs but a special train bearing high officials took the regular day engineer and Mr. Pierce had to go out on the day run.

At Central City the engine slipped a tire and No. 7, a big No. 1 class engine, was confiscated for the run. The cab is provided with side doors and the doors happened to be so small that Engineer Pierce could not get through with his extra avoidups. As a result he had to be hoisted up on a plank through the side window and when a station was reached and the necessary fireman had to perform the work.
Engineer Pierce does not want any more new fashioned cabs in "his."

Excursion Tomorrow.
Tomorrow a special excursion train will be run into Paducah over the I. C. from Murphysboro, Ill., carrying twelve coaches. This will be the first excursion run into Paducah from Illinois this spring and the merchants expect to do quite a business with the visitors.

Expect a Reply Today.
Dr. J. W. Pondley, who took the stomachs of the three Brockwell children to Louisville for an analysis, has not yet received information as to the result, but expects a telegram announcing the result today.

PRINCIPALS TO BE CHOSEN MONDAY

The School Board Meets Then
Instead of Tuesday.

Miss Emma Morgan Will Not Apply for a Principalship—Will Enter High School Work.

MANY APPLICATIONS RECEIVED

It is said that the school board will Monday night, at the regular meeting of the board, elect principals for the city schools.

This move is the result of a thorough investigation into the best time to elect principals for the betterment of the schools, and also for convenience and fair treatment to the principals. Heretofore the election of principals was held at the same time teachers were elected, in June, and when some were "let out" it was a hard matter for them to secure places elsewhere, because all good men had been employed. The board decided that the best plan to adopt was that of electing ahead of time and will, it is stated, elect Monday.

Miss Emma Morgan, principal of the Longfellow building, Fifth and Kentucky avenue, has announced that she will not be a candidate for re-election. Her announcement was made to the board sometime ago but not made public until today. She will remain in the schools but will be an applicant for another department. Miss Morgan, it is said, has prepared herself for a high class of work in the schools and will be an applicant for teacher in the High school. Miss Morgan has been teaching in the primary and intermediate departments but is one of the best instructors in the schools. She has been studying for the higher work and will no doubt secure a place in the High school.

Supt. Leib, who sent out notices of a vacancy in the principalship, has received many amusing letters of application. One teacher stated that he was principal of a school with two teachers under him and thought he was the right man for the place. He explained he never liked self praise but might be persuaded to talk about himself if the superintendent so desired. Supt. Leib has received as many as a dozen letters of application, all of which will be presented to the board at the meeting when the principals are selected.

The meeting of the board will be held Monday on account of Ralph Bingham being here Tuesday night.

One tennis court has been marked off at the High school and this morning the boys were out playing. Tennis seems to have taken the place of tops and baseball and the fence in the rear of the school was this morning lined with youngsters of all sizes watching the game. Three more courts will be made and the pupils will organize teams and start in right. They expect to become so proficient in the game as to defeat Cairo or any other school team which desires to accept a challenge.

Theatrical Notes

Tim Murphy, who comes to us season after season and each time with some highly entertaining vehicle, is to be at The Kentucky on Saturday night in his latest comedy, "When a Man Marries," which is one of the most laughable combinations of incidents based on the subject of matrimonial discord imaginable. The role he depicts in this comedy is one of the best he has had in a long time giving him many opportunities for really excellent acting. He is accompanied this season by a large and especially selected company, each member of which has an important role in this piece. Heading the list is Dorothy Sherrod, whose distinguished personality and undoubtedly clever acting has won for her a name that stands high in the theatrical profession.

That such a beautiful work of stage art as "Shore Acres" has managed to pass its first decade and still prove attractive to the lover of the drama, speaks well for the future of American dramatic art. "Shore Acres" carries with it an air of delightful farm life, intermingled with true character that cannot help appealing to a person's better nature. The story is a beautiful one, showing what a true heart, such as Uncle Nat possesses, together with determination, can do. Arrangements have been made for a fine scenic production of Mr. Herne's masterpiece at the Kentucky theater Monday night.

With an entire new scenic production and with capable cast "Way Down East" will be seen at The Kentucky on Tuesday night. The popularity of this celebrated rural play does not seem to wane. Local managers consider it a preferred booking and clamor to get it on their list of attractions.

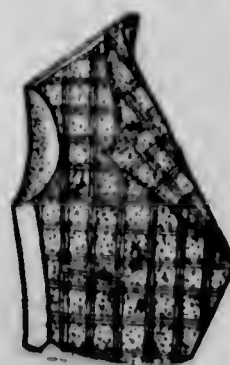

Acknowledging the merit of the play, there are other factors that have as much to do with its success. Foremost is the fact that Manager Brady has kept the cast up to its original standard of excellence. That these things count in the long run, is evidenced by the continual success of the play.

The pure in heart never stop to think about it.

The Wings of the Morning

By LOUIS TRACY
Copyright, 1903, by Edward J. Clode

"If they are green turtles," he continued, "we are in the lap of luxury. They land the old man and inspire the poet. When a ship comes to our assistance I will persuade the captain to freight the vessel with them and make my fortune."

"I suppose, under the circumstances, you were not a rich man, Mr. Jenks," said Iris timidly.

"I possess a wealthy bachelor uncle who made me his heir and allowed me four hundred a year, so I was a sort of Croesus among staff corps officers. When the amush came he disowned me by cable. My selling my ponies and my other belongings I was able to walk out of my quarters penniless, but free from debt."

"And all through a deceitful woman!"

"Yes."

She ventured a further step.

"Was she very bad to you, Mr. Jenks?"

"He stopped and laughed—actually roared—at the suggestion. "And to me!" he repeated. "I had nothing to do with her. She was humbugging her husband, not me. Fool that I was, I could not mind my own business."

So Mrs. Costello was not flirting with the man who suffered on her account. It is a regrettable but true statement that Iris would willingly have hugged Mrs. Costello at that moment.

Boundling Europa point, the sailor's eyes were fixed on their immediate surroundings, but Iris gazed dreamily ahead. Hence it was that she was the first to cry in amazement:

"A boat! See there! On the rocks!"

There was no mistake. A ship's boat was perched high and dry on the north side of the cape. Even as they scrambled toward it Jenks understood how it had come there.

When the Sinder pulled ashore, the after section fell back into the depths beyond the reef, and this boat must have broken loose from its davits and been driven ashore here by the force of the western current.

Was it later? Could they escape? Was this not, stranded on the island for their benefit? If it were seaworthy, whether should they steer to those islands whose blue outlines were visible on the horizon?

These and a hundred other questions coursed through his brain during the race over the rocks, but all such wild speculations were promptly settled when they reached the craft, for the keel and the whole of the lower timbers were smashed into match wood.

But there were stores on board. Jenks remembered that Captain Ross' foresight had secured the provisioning of all the ship's boats soon after the first wild rush to steady the vessel after the propeller was lost. Masts, sails, oars, seats—all save two water casks—had gone, but Jenks, with eager hands, unfettered the lockers, and here he found a good supply of tinned meats and biscuits. They had barely recovered from the excitement of this find when the sailor noticed that behind the rocks on which the craft was snugly lodged lay a small natural basin full of salt water, replenished and freshened by the spray of every gale and completely shut off from all seaward access.

It was not more than four feet deep, beautifully carpeted with sand and secluded by rocks on all sides. Not the thinnest crab or fish was to be seen. It provided an ideal bath.

Iris was overjoyed. She pointed toward their habitation.

"Mr. Jenks," she said, "I will be with you at bedtime."

He gathered all the tin he was able to carry and strode off, enjoying her to the hilt, for the slightest reason she wanted assistance, and giving a parting warning that if she delayed too long he would come and shout to her.

"I wonder," said the girl to herself, watching his retreating figure, "what he is afraid of. Surely by this time we have exhausted the unpleasant surprises of the island. Anyhow, now for a splash!"

She was hardly in the water before she began to be afraid on account of Jenks. Suppose anything happened to him while she was thoughtlessly enjoying herself here! So strongly did the thought possess her that she hurriedly dressed again and ran off to find him.

He was engaged in fending a number of boyons transversely to a long piece of timber.

"What are you doing that for?" she asked.

"Why did you return so soon? Did anything alarm you?"

"I thought you might get into mischief," she confessed.

"No. On the other hand, I am trying to make trouble for any unbecoming visitors," he replied. "I intend to set this up in front of our cave in case we are compelled to defend ourselves against an attack by savages. With this barrier the way they cannot rush the position."

On the nineteenth day of their residence on the island the sailor climbed, as was his invariable habit, to the summit rock while Iris prepared breakfast. At this early hour the horizon was clearly set as the rim of a saucer. He examined the whole arc of the sea with his glasses, but not a sail was in sight. According to his calculations the growing anxiety as to the fate of the Sinder must long ere this have culminated in the dispatch from Hongkong or Singapore of a special search vessel, while British warships in the China sea would be warned to keep a close lookout for any traces of the steamer, to visit all islands on their route and to question fishermen whom they encountered. So help might come any day or it might be long deferred. He could not pierce the future, and it was useless to vex his soul with questionings as to what might happen next week. The great certainty of the hour was Iris—the blue-eyed, smiling divinity who had come into his life—waiting for him down there beyond the trees, waiting to welcome him with a sweet voiced greeting, and he knew, with a fierce devotion, that her cheek would not pale nor her lip tremble when he announced that at least another man must set before the expected relief reached them.

He replaced the glasses in their case and dived into the wood, giving a passing thought to the fact that the wind, after blowing steadily from the south for nearly a week, had veered round to the northeast during the night. Did the change portend a storm? Well, they were now prepared for all such eventualities, and he had not forgotten that they possessed, among other treasures, a box of books for rainy days. And a rainy day with Iris for company! What gale that ever blew could offer such compensation for enforced idleness?

The morning sped in uneventful work. Iris did not neglect her cherished pitcher plant. After luncheon it was her custom now to carry a dish full of water to its apparently arid roots, and she rose to fulfill her self-imposed task.

"Let me help you," said Jenks. "I am not very busy this afternoon."

"No, thank you. I simply won't allow you to touch that shrub. The dear thing looks quite glad to see me. It drinks up the water as greedily as a thirsty animal."

Iris had been gone perhaps five minutes when he heard a distant shriek, twice repeated, and then there came faintly to his ears his own name, not "Jenks," but "Robert," in the girl's voice. Something terrible had happened. It was a cry of supreme distress. Mortal agony or overwhelming terror alone could wring that name from her lips. Precisely as such moments this man acted with the decision, the unerring judgment, the instantaneous acceptance of great risk to accomplish great results, that marked him out as a born soldier.

He rushed into the house and snatched from the rack one of the rifles, and then he stepped into the sea with a filled magazine attached and a cartridge already in position. Then he ran with long strides not through the trees, where he could see nothing, but toward the beach, whence in forty yards the place where Iris probably was would become visible.

At once he saw her struggling in the grasp of two ferocious looking Dyaks, one by his garments a person of consequence, the other a half naked savage, hideous and repulsive in appearance. Around them seven men armed with guns and barangs were dancing with excitement.

Iris' captors were endeavoring to tie her arms, but she was a strong and active Englishwoman, with muscles well knit by the constant labor of recent busy days and a frame developed by years of horse riding and tennis playing. The pair evidently found her a tough handful, and the inferior Dyak, either to stop her screaming, for she was shrieking, "Robert, come to me!" with all her might—or to still her into submission, roughly placed his huge hand over her mouth.

These things the sailor noticed instantly. Some men, brave to rashness, ready as he to give his life to save her, would have needed more time before the feverish ground, scarce a furlong, and attempted a heroic combat of one against nine.

Not so Jenks. With the methodical exactness of the parade ground he settled down on one knee and leveled the rifle.

None of the Dyaks saw him. All were intent on the sensational prize they had secured, a young and beautiful white woman so contentedly running about the shores of this fetid island. With the slow speed advised by the Roman philosopher the back sight and fore sight of the rifle came into line with the breast of the coarse brute clutching the girl's face.

Then something hit him above the heart and simultaneously tore half of his back into fragments. He fell, with a queer sob, and the others turned to face this unexpected danger.

Iris, knowing only that she was free from that hateful grasp, wrenched herself free from the chief's hold and ran with all her might along the beach to Jenks and safety.

Again and yet again the rifle gave its short, sharp snarl, and two more Dyaks collapsed on the sand. Six were left, their leader being still unconsciously propped from death by the figure of the lying girl.

A fourth Dyak dropped. The survivors, cowed savages, but not cowards, musing their guns. The sailor, white faced, grim, with an unpleasant gleam in his deep set eyes and a lower jaw protruding, noticed their preparations.

A BAD DISORDER

In the fall of 1895 I contracted that fearful disease, Blood Poison. It gained such headway that I was forced to resign my position and seek relief at Hot Springs. After spending all the money I had I went to Memphis. In less than three weeks I was in a hospital, and after nine weeks of suffering I was discharged as cured. In less than a month every bone in my body seemed to be affected and felt as if they would break at the least exertion. Again I was compelled to resign, and I returned to the hospital for a seven weeks stay. When I came out I began to use, and after taking the thirteenth bottle not a sore or boil was visible. R. B. POWELL, East 9th St., Little Rock, Ark.

Of all human diseases, Contagious Blood Poison is the most hideous and hateful. The victim is tortured with eating ulcers, sores and abscesses, unsightly blotches, eruptions and other symptoms of the miserable disease. S. S. S. has been used successfully for nearly fifty years for Contagious Blood Poison. It contains no mercury, potash or other mineral. Our home treatment book gives all the symptoms of this disease. Medical advice free.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Revised Creed as Surgically Operated. (Santa Barbara, Cal., Telegram to the New York Herald.)

While expert surgeons slowly cut a large portion of flesh from a vital part of his body, Charles Welle, of this city, watched their work and recited in Latin the Nicene Creed of the Ancient Church. The operation was performed several days ago in a Los Angeles hospital, and Mr. Welle returned to his home last night to spend the happiest Christmas of his life.

Mr. Welle, who is sixty years old, faced almost certain death for a year. Finally nothing remained but an operation, almost always fatal, and never before performed in Santa Barbara.

Knowing its dangerous character, Mr. Welle preferred to die in full possession of his faculties and refused to take ether. Drugs to allay pain were administered and while the surgeons removed the flesh the patient watched every movement. As the effect of the anodyne wore off the pain of the operation was felt in its full force, but never for a moment did Mr. Welle, lose self-control. There was a total absence of shock in the case and to this, the surgeons say, is due the recovery of their patient.

HOW CASES ARE DISPOSED OF IN COURT OF APPEALS.

Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 29.—Owing to the misapprehension under which both lawyers and litigants labor as to procedure in the consultation room of the appellate court judges in the distribution of cases appealed from the lower courts to the members of this court, and the consideration and disposition of petitions. Filed before the court for rehearing of cases decided, Chief Justice Hobson, of the court, deems it advisable to make publication of the rules which have been adopted by the judges, for information of all who may be interested. Inquiries recently made show this misapprehension to be widespread over the state. Discussing the procedure, the chief justice said:

"It will interest many to know how cases are distributed to the judges in the court of appeals; that is how it is determined what judge will get a particular case, as many persons, when they receive an opinion, look upon it as the decision of the judge who writes it. The method of proceeding is this: When the court gets ready to take up the submitted cases, the clerk, by the direction of the chief justice, divides them into seven bundles as near equal as may be done. These bundles are then tied up separately and sent to the chief justice, who locks them up in a drawer in the consultation room. The chief justice does not know what papers are in any bundle, and the clerk does not know to what judge the chief justice will send any bundle. When a judge needs more records the chief justice goes to the drawer and takes out at random a bundle and sends it to the judge, and when all the bundles are sent out a new distribution is made in the same way. Cases that are orally argued, or advanced, are sent by the clerk to the chief justice, as they are ready, and these are distributed by him to the judges in rotation. The names of the judges are set down in a book; the first case is sent to the judge at the head of the list, the second to the next on the list, and when the foot is reached, he begins at the top again and goes down. The chief justice takes his papers in his order just as any other judge. There is no picking or choosing, the cases go simply where they fall. No papers are sent out by the clerk."

"It is provided by law that when a petition for rehearing is filed it must be examined by another judge than the one who wrote the opinion. This provision, in connection with the idea that the judge who writes the opinion is chiefly, if not wholly, the author of the decision, tends to many applications for a new hearing, as the defeated party hopes that when another judge examines the petition he may take a different view of the case. Not near so many petitions for rehearing would be filed if it were realized that the opinion is the judgment of the court and not of the judge alone who writes it. To remove this misapprehension, it may be stated that when a judge has examined a record he brings it to the consultation room and states it or reads the material parts of it to the other members of the court, and after they agreed upon a decision of the case, the judge writes the opinion, and this is then brought back to the next meeting of the court and read to the judges, that they may understand that it corresponds to the decision of the court. If the material facts of the case are correctly stated in the opinion the litigant may rest satisfied that the court understands his case, and that the court is responsible for the decision, and not the judge alone who writes the opinion."

Forest Fires in Livingston.
Smithland, Ky., March 31.—A destructive forest fire wrought considerable damage in this county during the past week. The fences of several farms were destroyed. Among those who suffered loss were, C. B. Davis, on the J. D. Perkins place, Dock McDonald and Will Goodman. Catching from burning woods near by, Blooming Grove Baptist church, two miles east of Hirdsville, this county, was totally destroyed by fire. There was nothing about the building saved except the altar chairs, the organ and two benches. What Caused the Marion Fire.
Marion, Ky., March 31.—The fire which swept the business section of Marion off the earth and destroyed $250,000 worth of property Tuesday afternoon was caused by a crowd of boys learning to smoke and play cards in a stable loft. The fact was ascertained today when several boys in the card game acknowledged that they were trying to learn how to smoke when the hay in the loft took fire. They made valiant efforts to extinguish the flames but the terrific wind fanned the fire until it spread from the stable to the adjoining houses and on through the business portion of the town.
